NOTES ON THE ARRANGEMENT OF THE P.K. PAGE FONDS

1. In the Manuscripts series, drafts of collected poems have been arranged under the title of the earliest collection in which they appeared. Poems not appearing in any collection of Page's work at the time the papers were arranged in 1984, including both published and unpublished poems, were arranged together in one nominal series.
2. Some manuscripts by other authors are arranged in a separate series. Note that other such manuscripts may appear in the Correspondence series along with correspondence from the author.
3. The Correspondence has been arranged in two nominal series, largely following the original order. Series I is the more comprehensive and includes correspondence from other writers, artists, friends and acquaintances; it includes files of miscellaneous correspondence, some from unidentified correspondents, and files of correspondence from students, largely about their own work. Some correspondence originally filed as miscellaneous has now been filed under the name of the author, where the extent or the prominence of the author seemed to warrant it, and some correspondence has been moved from the original nominal files to complete related correspondence in the Subject Files series. Series II comprises personal correspondence from close friends, arranged nominally, and some individual letters removed from Series I files for special restrictions.
4. The Subject Files largely reflect the original order but have been re-arranged to some extent in the interests of consistency (eg. all Page's collections are now filed under the name of the publisher rather than, as originally, some appearing under the name of the publisher and some under the title of the collection; all the League of Canadian Poets and Writers Union of Canada material is now filed under the name of the organization). Some large files relating to a general subject have been broken into a series of smaller files (eg. material in the original "Art" files is now filed by gallery under the heading "Art"). Some correspondence has been brought from the Correspondence series to complete related correspondence found in the Subject Files. One new file was created, "Publishers. General", to bring together loose and miscellaneous correspondence with publishers.

Some material has been removed from the "Canada Council", "Canadian Writers Foundation" and "Order of Canada" files and filed separately because of the need for special restrictions.
