INTRODUCTION

This collection was donated in 1985 by Mrs. Rada Bulat and additional archival material was presented to the National Archives by Mrs. Bulat in 1986. Most publications and periodicals were kept in the collection. Some items published in Canada were transferred to the National Library. The newspaper Glas Kanadskih Srba was transferred to the National Library Newspaper Collection. Photographs were transferred to the Documentary Arts and Photography Division. One sound recording was transferred to the Moving Images and Sound Archives Division. Also two reels of film were transferred to this Division. Some files have been deposited in the vault. Volumes 1 to 33 are boxes each containing 20 cm of files, volume 34 is a box of 7 cm.

A modified Library of Congress system of Serbian transliteration is used in this finding aid, however, some names, titles and other words previously transliterated according to other systems were left in their original form.

This is the most significant archival collection of a nationally-known Serbian community leader at the National Archives of Canada. His career spans an important period in Serbian-Canadian history especially the post-World War II period. He was an active member and leader of the major Serbian community organizations in Canada and any history of the Serbian community must include detailed descriptions of his life and activities.

This collection provides rare and valuable information on his relationship with other prominent leaders of the Serbian community in Canada and the United States. It also contains information on his close and friendly relationship with the Hon. Paul Martin in Ottawa and in Windsor. Extensive correspondence with friends and relatives in Canada, the United States and Yugoslavia provides a rare and unique insight into the career of one of Canada's most prominent ethnocultural leaders.

The Pero Bulat Collection was acquired through the direct assistance of Dan Mrkich, whose advice and comments in preparing this finding aid are gratefully acknowledged.

Biographical Notes on Pero Bulat (1899-1983)

Born in Vrgin-Most, Banija on 7 October 1899, Pero Bulat served in the Royal Yugoslav Armed Forces and was discharged in 1920. He emigrated to Canada in 1926 as a farm-labourer. He worked in Western Canada and northern Ontario. Soon after his arrival in Shumacher, Ontario he became a founding member of a lodge of the Serbian National Federation. He later found employment in Windsor, Ontario. He was an organizer and president of the Sokols in Windsor; one of the organizers and president of the Yugoslav Canadian Association 1939-1942; one of the founders of the Serbian National Shield Society of Canada and served as its president for 28 years (1944-1953, 1955-1974). In 1974 he was elected lifetime honorary president.

From the 1930's he owned and managed several businesses including a tavern and hotel, a grocery store, a clothing store, a factory and a farm. He was also chairman of the Avala Printing and Publishing Co. Ltd. from 1954 until his death.

During World War II, Pero Bulat served on the Executive Committee of the Red Cross and was president of a 15,000 member all-Slav organization. He was a member of a Serbian Canadian delegation to Ottawa which requested the Canadian government to allow Serbian prisoners-of-war and refugees to enter Canada after the war.

He received numerous letters from Serbs in Europe wishing to emigrate to Canada. Pero Bulat sponsored many Serbian Displaced Persons and refugees to come to Canada in the 1940's and 1950's. He was an active member of the Liberal Party and used his political contacts in Ottawa to promote the cause of Serbs in Canada.

Pero Bulat was also active in the Serbian Eastern Orthodox Church, served on the Gracanica Church Building Committee and on the Diocesan Council. He was deeply concerned with the split that developed in the Church in the early 1960's.

Pero Bulat was president of the Serbian Hall in Windsor and he was one of the organizers of the Serb Businessmen's and Professional Association of Windsor. He was editor of Voice of Canadian Serbs, a national newspaper. Through this newspaper, he was known not only nationally but internationally among all Serbs. He maintained an active correspondence with many prominent Serb literary and historical writers, political exiles, and religious leaders both inside and outside Yugoslavia.

Pero Bulat died on 18 September 1983 and is buried at the Serbian Orthodox Monastery cemetery in Libertyville near Chicago.
