Notes on the production of the reference copies, citation style, etc.

Abbreviations, terms and conventions used in this fonds and in the description of the documents

Notes on the investigation of related or duplicate texts

List of First Nations whose names figure in the documents, giving French and English equivalents

Listing of the documents in Series 1 and Series 2 (presented in chronological order) -

pages 1-85

Note that the reference photocopies of Series 1 documents are boxed as volumes 2 and 3; those of Series 2 documents are boxed as volumes 5 and 6

* CITATION STYLE

The arrangement of the documents preserves and reflects that imposed at the time of their sale in 1997. Series 1 correlates to lots 600-742 in the sale of 19 June and Series 2 to lots 601-747 in the sale of 16 July.

The photocopies have been identified in the style

Requests for photocopies and citations to the documents must include the MG reference, in the style

MG 19, F 35, Series 2, lot 686, pages 1-14.

Practices followed in the preparation of the reference photocopies

Each document has been photocopied in such fashion that the edges of the pages are clearly identified. Each page bearing text, no matter how little, has been reproduced. The sequence of pages has been reproduced as faithfully as possible -- including inserts and paste-overs.

 With one major exception (Series 1, 681), the page numbering applied to the documents reflects any numbering applied by their authors/creators. Only rarely were pages numbered within the documents.

All documents have been reproduced at 100% of original size -- neither enlarged nor reduced in any fashion. Where staining or discoloration of the paper inhibited legibility, the photocopies have been lightened. Where pencil was used or the ink has faded -- most notably where red ink was used -- the photocopies have been darkened. In some cases, the bleeding of ink through the paper is so severe as to prevent the production of legible photocopies (note in particular Series 2, lots 693 and 720). Typescript copies will be prepared as soon as circumstances permit.

Oversize documents have been photocopied in sections. The pages are identified as left/right or top/bottom, as appropriate to the layout of text on the page. The photocopies of five roll-format documents (Series 2, lot 674), in which the text runs horizontally over several sheets of paper pasted together, have been identified as sections, reading from left to right.

Ribbons and cords have been kept intact where to do otherwise would compromise the legitimacy of the document -- notably where they run under seals. Many silk ribbons have deteriorated, to the point that they fragment on being touched, but have left substantial stains indicating where and how they ran through the pages of a document. The cotton ribbon holding the pages of Series 2, lot 740 together was untied and detached from all but the last sheet, as it actually ran through the text of the other two sheets.

* Abbreviations, terms and conventions used in the records and the finding aid:

- Autograph Letter Signed -- fully in the hand of its author

LS - Letter Signed -- only the signature is in the hand of the author

* when inscribed within a circle, at the head of a copied text, or after the signature on copies, LS served as the abbreviation for locus sigilli: the location of the seal on the original text.

ADS - Autograph Document Signed -- fully in the hand of its author

DS - Document Signed -- only the signature is in the hand of the author

(Copy)

(Duplicate) - a notation made by custom in the upper left corner of documents; a copy usually bore a replica of the author's signature, with the inscription (signed) to the left of it, to distinguish it from an original signature; a duplicate original often bore the author's signature. Official despatches were customarily sent in duplicate or triplicate, by separate vessels or routes, as a precaution against loss in transit.

General - the title commonly used in referring to or addressing certain persons; Frederick Haldimand, Henry Hope and other individuals who were both the civil Governor of Quebec and the military Commander of the Forces in that region dealt with Indian Affairs in their military capacity.

President - the administrator of a province in the absence of a commissioned governor, or lieutenant governor, was the senior Member of the Executive Council, and as such was commonly known as the President of the Council and/or Administrator of the province. Peter Russell used the title of President when administering the province of Upper Canada.

Seal - an impression on wax, or on paper over a wax/shellac wafer, used as a symbol of authority and evidence of the legitimacy of the act to which a signatory was party. The instrument used to make the impression on the wax is properly termed a matrix.

Personal seals were usually affixed beside a signature at the foot of a document; seals used to symbolize the authority of a state (the Great Seal Deputed for a colony) or an office (such as the governor's Privy Seal) be affixed to a cord threaded through the pages of the document (as evidence of their being all part of that document) or in the upper left corner -- as in the commissions and certificates issued by Sir William and Guy Johnson (see Series 1, lots 613 and 691-692).

The term cachet is applied to small personal seals (usually under 4cm in diameter) used most often to close letters, but also when their owners signed contracts and other formal documents.

Totemic signature - use of a symbol in place of a signature, by Native peoples; the relationship between the animals, birds, fish and other symbols depicted in totemic signatures to clan or personal totems merits further investigation.

True Copy - term used by officials when producing a certified copy; the official's name and title, plus the date of preparation, should follow the inscription of those words; the source may be noted, in the style from the original or from the records

Wafer - an adhesive disc used to attach pages of a document together, most commonly green, orange or yellow; also used under a small square of paper next to signatures, in place of a seal where the signatories had no personal seal. This was done in compliance with the formula in documents that stipulated they were produced "under the hand and seal" of the signatory parties -- hand here referring to the signature.

Notes on the preliminary draft of Finding Aid 2122

The text is set up using columns in WordPerfect 5.1, with Times Roman 10 as the default font. Words quoted from the dockets or content of the documents appear in italics (or underlined, if read in an environment that does not provide an italic font).

The five columns are devoted to Date and place of writing, with appropriate commentary on lacunae

Authors and recipients; copyists (identifiable from certification statements) date of certification is noted if substantially different from the original

Contents - the description of contents incorporates all or appropriate parts of docket titles (in italics) where those titles are informative but not redundant; names of Native individuals and nations are noted where possible, with the exception of council proceedings and treaties that list dozens (in which case the number of names is indicated and only the spokesmen are named);
modern spellings are supplied in square brackets where appropriate;

Linkages - duplication of the text in other locations and/or formats; related documents
NOTE that the full citation for RG 10 volumes, the Haldimand and Simcoe papers and other related records have not YET been provided

Location within MG 19, F 35 -- note that a volume number is not specified documents are identified by their lot numbers at the auction sales of 19 June 1997 (series 1) and of 16 July 1997 (series 2) -- citations should note series, lot and page numbers; each document is paginated independently;
two sets of photocopies are available: for series 1 in volumes 2-3, and for series 2 in volumes 5-6; the originals are out of circulation; the microfilm will be available in 1998

Comments and suggestions for the Introduction or the main listing are welcome:

for example,

- how useful would a table identifying the incumbencies of deputies, agents, secretaries and other staff under the Superintendent be? does any such list already exist?
- how useful would a table identifying modern names (French and English) for the Indian nations be? (The introductory notes to the first four volumes of the Dictionary of Canadian Biography provide French-English equivalences -- but not all researchers have easy access to the DCB.)
- are there particular abbreviations or conventions that puzzle you?
