Introduction

Canadian Ladies' Golf Association

According to early reports, lady golfers were active as early as 1891. The first Canadian Ladies Championship was conducted in 1901 at the Royal Montreal Golf Club by the gentlemen of the Royal Canadian Golf Association. The Championship continued to be held in the east with venue provided by the Royal Ottawa and the Lambton and Rosedale Golf Clubs until 1913 when the Royal Montreal was host again. It was at this tournament in 1913 that the Canadian Ladies Golf Union (CLGU) was formed with a membership of 37 clubs.

Competition was suspended during the First World War. In 1919 the CLGU was reorganized at a meeting in Toronto. The first annual meeting was held in 1920 and a Constitution and By-laws were adopted in 1921. By 1924 the CLGU has assumed responsibility for conducting the Ladies Open Championship, replacing the Royal Canadian Golf Association. In 1934 the first Inter-Provincial Team Match was organized. The championships were cancelled during the Second World War. In 1947 the National Open resumed at the Toronto Golf Club.

The growth of the Union throughout the ensuing decades was steady and by 1962 with the application of Newfoundland for admission as a separate branch, the Union was truly national in scope. In 1967, the name of the organization was changed from the Canadian Ladies' Golf Union to the Canadian Ladies' Golf Association. The national office is located in Oakville, Ontario. The papers were presented by the Association in 1972 and 1978.
