198748	Series		R9909				2022-01-01	Diaries [textual record]	The series consists of diaries maintained by Urjo Kareda, written up almost every day of his working life and usually throughout his holidays as well. Kareda titled each diary 'How It Works' and assigned a volume number to each. The diaries record minutely and in vivid detail virtually every aspect of his professional, literary, social and personal life. The first diary covers his last months as literary manager at the Stratford Theatre, and his brief ill-fated period as one of the four members of the artistic directorate chosen to succeed Robin Phillips in 1980. The rest of the diaries (vols. XI - XXX) relate to Kareda's years as artistic director at the Tarragon Theatre. They provide a unique view of his work at the theatre and the development of indigenous Canadian playwriting during the last fifteen years. The diaries offer a perspective on a multitude of cultural issues at play both in Toronto and across the entire country, as well as documenting at the same time Kareda's personal and domestic life.			1980-2001, predominant 1987-2001.

198761	Sub-series		R9909					Radio journalism [textual record]	The sub-series contains research and other notes, scripts, and transcripts of a variety of radio broadcasts. Some of the earlier material dates to the beginning of Urjo Kareda's professional career in the arts, and includes untitled scripts and notes from broadcasts in the early 1970s. Thirteen files document Kareda's involvement in an extensive broadcast celebrating the 1985 tercentenary of George Frideric Handel's birth; these files include a variety of drafts, scripts, and related notes. The sub-series also includes the scripts of Kareda's regular journal contributions from 1988 to 1998 to the Arts Tonight programme on CBC radio, as well as the script of Kareda's adaptation for radio of David French's play Salt Water Moon.			1971-1999.

198763	Series		R9909				2022-01-01	Stratford Festival files [textual record; graphic material]	This series documents Urjo Kareda's years as literary manager at the Stratford Theatre, and his unhappy experience as one member of the four-person directorate chosen to undertake the theatre's artistic management after the departure of Robin Phillips in 1980. The series includes incoming and copies of outgoing correspondence and memoranda, as well as notes, cast lists, résumés, articles and scripts. Personal correspondence files document Kareda's interactions with a variety of notable theatrical and literary figures, including Robertson Davies, Jessica Tandy, Hume Cronyn, Pauline Kael, Margaret Tyzack, Pat Galloway, and Richard Monette. Memoranda files include copies of Kareda's notes to Robin Phillips on a wide range of subjects, including choices of dramatic texts, meetings with playwrights and authors, casting prospects and decisions, and a variety of daily issues affecting the running of the theatre. The files entitled 'La Chasse' document the search for an administrative structure to fill the place occupied by Robin Phillips, and subsequent files relating to the Directorate illustrate the members' ultimately unsuccessful attempt to replace Phillips. The series also contains a series of files of correspondence with playwrights - in the case of John Murrell, a correspondence which would endure until Kareda's death, and which is further documented in the Tarragon Theatre files. In addition, there are files relating specifically to two productions: a stage adaptation			[196?]; 1973-1981.

198767	Sub-series		R9909				2012-01-01	Production files [textual record; graphic material]	The sub-series includes correspondence, notes, memoranda, actors' résumés, audition schedules and related information, newspaper clippings, reviews, scripts and notebooks. The documentation relates to the production of plays at the Tarragon Theatre from the 1982/83 season, Kareda's first as artistic manager, to his final season. Included are files on the production of Judith Thompson's White Biting Dog, The Crackwalker and Lion in the Streets; John Krizanc's Prague; Joan MacLeod's Amigo's Blue Guitar; Ken Garnhum's Buys Buys Boys; Margaret Atwood's Good Bones; and Kristen Thompson's I, Claudia. The production files contain correspondence with the playwrights involved, and with the directors and some of the actors, particularly Clare Coulter and Martha Henry. In some cases, as for example with writers Rachel Wyatt (Geometry; and Chairs and Tables) and John Murrell (October), the files document a close friendship.			1981-2001.

198769	Sub-series		R9909				2012-01-01	General correspondence [textual record]	The sub-series consists almost entirely of incoming and copies of outgoing correspondence and memoranda, with some personal and professional promotional material included. The early files include many letters of congratulation to Kareda, from others in the theatre community and cultural sphere, on his appointment to the artistic directorship of the Tarragon Theatre. Subsequent files contain correspondence with other theatre directors, with actors looking for work, and with a variety of arts professionals regarding recommendations, grants, awards and juries. The files also contain correspondence with Tarragon subscribers regarding their opinions of theatrical performances they have attended.			1981-1994, 2001.

198780	Sub-series		R9909				2012-01-01	Correspondence with playwrights [textual record]	Included in the sub-series are incoming and copies of outgoing correspondence, résumés, reviews, synopses of plays, scripts, playbills and newspaper clippings. The files consist largely of requests from aspiring playwrights for Kareda's comments on their scripts. Kareda's responses to these appeals document his role as dramaturge at Tarragon, his approach to play development and theatrical production, his taste and his artistic philosophy. In addition to requests from unknown writers, these files also contain letters from well-known figures - such as Carol Shields (Jan. 1984), Gordon Pinsent (Jan. 1986), Atom Egoyan (July 1986), Robin Fulford (July & Oct. 1986, Dec. 1987), John Murrel (1985-1993), Wayson Choy (July 1987) and Guy Vanderhaeghe (May & June 1991, Jan. 1992). Also included is a series of files containing correspondence and submitted scripts to the Tarragon's "Six Playwright Unit".	Manuscripts and typescripts. Under copyright. No consultation without the consent of the Estate of Urjo Kareda. No reproduction without the consent of the writer.		1981-1994, 2001

198781	Sub-series		R9909				2012-01-01	Nominal correspondence [textual record]	The files in the sub-series include incoming and copies of outgoing correspondence, promotional material, clippings, speeches, and scripts. There are two folders at the beginning of the sub-series containing letters and notes Kareda had set aside unfiled, including ones from Cybill Shepherd, Hume Cronyn, Martha Henry, Jon Vickers, Mavis Gallant, William Hutt, Ken Garnhum, Don Hannah and Shelagh Rogers. The rest of the files consist of nominal correspondence with playwrights and others. Some of the correspondence dates from Kareda's early years at Tarragon (and related correspondence may be found in the Correspondence with playwrights sub-series; see for instance Atom Egoyan and Robin Fulford). Other files contain correspondence with close friends spanning Kareda's Tarragon years, including files relating to Mavis Gallant, John Murrell, Morris Panych and Ken MacDonald, and Rachel Wyatt.			1974-2001.

198782	Sub-series		R9909				2012-01-01	Subject files [textual record]	The sub-series consists of incoming and copies of outgoing correspondence and memoranda, agenda, notes, drafts, speeches and clippings. Early files in the sub-series document some of the background of the theatre whose artistic directorship Kareda was assuming in 1982, and include information on finances, contracts and board meetings. Subsequent files include documentation on the workings of the (Six) Playwrights Unit established by Kareda to promote closer and more intensive work with novice playwrights. Files on the awarding of the Dora Mavor Moore Awards in 1984 contain information on the behind-the-scenes operation of arts awards. The files of memoranda from Mallory (Gilbert) include a wide range of information on the daily operations of the Tarragon Theatre, and include details on theatre finances and staff, and the intricacies of casting and dealing with playwrights and other arts professionals. Files on the Canada Council, Ontario Arts Council and Toronto Arts Committee document the grant-making process, and include recommendations, applications and financial information. The files relating to the Elinore & Lou Siminovitch Prize document the initial awarding of this valuable prize: as chair of the first jury to choose a recipient, Kareda documented much of the planning stages. Also included in the sub-series are files of press clippings related to several seasons' productions.			1979-2001.

198783	Series		R9909				2012-01-01	Agendas and personal records [textual record, graphic material]	The sub-series includes high school and university diplomas and certificates, address books, and agenda books (containing various inserted documents, including correspondence, invoices, contact sheets and memoranda), contracts (various theatre companies as well as the C.B.C), honours and awards, memorabilia, remembrance messages and correspondence. The 2001 agenda contained the greatest number and variety of inserts, material which in previous years would probably have been filed with Tarragon records. The inserts have been filed following the agenda book in which they were found. Also included in the series is a file of early printed illustrations relating to various Richard Strauss operas as well as a farewell concert project in honour of singer Christa Ludwig.			1960-2001.
