FULHAM PAPERS

Microfilm, 1606-1824. 7 reels, A-1028 to A-1034. Finding Aid No. 181.

"The Fulham Papers" is the name given to the archives of the Bishops of London, which were formerly kept in the library of the Bishop of London's Palace at Fulham. They are now housed in the Archbishop of Canterbury's Lambeth Palace Library. Since the Bishops of London were virtually the diocesan heads of the Church of England overseas during the colonial period, these archives contain an American Colonial Section, amounting to some 42 volumes, which includes a considerable amount of material relating to Canada.

In 1978 the P.A.C. acquired microfilm copies of those parts of the American Colonial Section of the Fulham Papers which pertained to the Canadian colonies.

Finding Aid No. 181 comprises two parts: (1) The Fulham Papers in the Lambeth Palace Library. American Colonial Section. Calendar and Indexes. Compiled by William Wilson Manross, Ph.D. (Oxford: At the Clarendon Press, 1965) and (2) an indexed shelf list of the material available at the P.A.C. The Manross Calendar provides descriptions of the material in Volumes 1-40; an index to these descriptions; and other index to names appearing in the documents themselves, though not in the calendar. Both these indexes should be carefully consulted, since they lead the researcher to material, relating to the non-Canadian parts of the careers of persons of Canadian interest, which does not appear in the General Index, where only the Canadian sections of the papers have been indexed. The P.A.C.'s shelf list provides a list of material available, showing its type, outside dates, and connection with specific colonies; it correlates the Lambeth Palace Library's references with the descriptions in the Manross Calendar and with the P.A.C.'s microfilm reel numbers; and it also provides a somewhat fuller description of Volumes 41 and 42, which contain additional items not included in the Manross Calendar and Indexes.

The material at the P.A.C. consists of:

General Correspondence, etc., 1606-1824 (Vols. 1-2, 36, 41. Available on reels A-1028, A-1032 and A-1034)

Ordination Papers, 1747-1802 (Vols. 21-24, 41. Available on reels A-1029, A-1030 and A-1034)

Missionary Bonds, 1748-1811 (Vols. 33-35. Available on reels A-1031 and A-1032)

Diocesan Book for the Plantations, 1685-1742 (Vol. 37. Available on reel A-1033)

Entry Books of Clergy Ordained, Licensed for the Plantations, etc., 1718-1793 (Vols. 38-39, 42. Available on reels A-1033 and A-1034)

Pamphlets, n.d., 1724-1808 (Vol. 40. Available on reel A-1033)

The items relating to Canada (1711-1802) include documents pertaining to Newfoundland (1711-1802); Nova Scotia (1727-1797); Cape Breton (1784); Cape Sable (1767); Prince Edward Island (1769); Quebec (1764-1796); and Upper Canada (1796). Also included is a great deal of similar material relating to the thirteen American colonies and the West Indies, as well as a small amount pertaining to Africa and England.

INTRODUCTION

History of the Collection

"The Fulham Papers" is the name given to the archives of the Bishops of London, who were virtually the diocesan heads of the Church of England overseas during the colonial period. When C.M. Andrews and Frances G. Davenport compiled their Guide to the Manuscript Materials for the History of the United States to 1783, in the British Museum, in Minor London Archives, and in the Libraries of Oxford and Cambridge (Washington, D.C.: 1908), these papers were still in the library of the Bishop of London's Palace at Fulham. Not only had they not yet been transferred to the Lambeth Palace Library where they are now housed, but neither had they yet been systematically arranged, bound, provided with call numbers or catalogued. This task was initiated in 1959 by Geoffrey Bill, the Librarian of Lambeth Palace Library, and a Calendar and Indexes for the first 40 volumes of the American Colonial Section of the collection by the Rev. Dr. W.W. Manross was published in 1965. Since then, a further two volumes of material have come to light.

The Material at the P.A.C.

The American Colonial Section of the collection was microfilmed in 1970 and 1978 by World Microfilms Publications, and in 1978 the Public Archives of Canada purchased copies of those reels which contained material relating to Canada. Included on the relevant reels is a great deal of other material relating to the Thirteen American Colonies, the West Indies, Africa and England.

The Finding Aid

This finding aid provides a microfilm shelf list of the material acquired, references to the Manross Calendar, and descriptions of the material in volumes 41 and 42 which are not included in that Calendar. For an introduction to the papers, explanation of their arrangement, and description of the indexes, the reader is referred to The Fulham Papers in the Lambeth Palace Library, American Colonial Section, Calendar and Indexes, Compiled by William Wilson Manross, Ph.D. (Oxford, at the Clarendon Press: 1965), which forms part of this finding aid.

The reader should note that since the dated material for Canada only goes effectively to 1791, there is nothing listed for Upper Canada in the Calendar, although the records for Quebec do sometimes apply to clergy working in what later became Upper Canada.

Related Material

For other American papers in the Lambeth Palace Library, the researcher is referred to the Manross Calendar and the above mentioned Guide by Andrews and Davenport. Some of this additional material is available at the P.A.C.
