AMALGAMATED CLOTHING AND TEXTILE WORKERS UNION - Textile
Division (est. 1945)

Originals, n.d., 1920-1980. 26.19 m. Finding Aid No. 1110.

In an effort to expand and consolidate union organization in the textile industry, the Canadian Congress of Labour asked the Textile Workers Union of America to come to Canada in 1945. Locals affiliated with the Congress' Textile Workers Organizing Committee and with the National Union of Textile Workers subsequently joined the TWUA, whose first Canadian Director was Sam Baron. His successors were J. Harold Daoust (1951-1954) and George C. Watson (1965-1977). The TWUA quickly became the largest textile workers union in Canada, with contracts for workers employed in major mills such as Canadian Cottons plants in Ontario and New Brunswick, Courtaulds Ltd. in Cornwall and Monarch Knitting Mills in Toronto. Joint boards were set up to coordinate and supervise the locals in centers of the industry including Toronto, Southwestern Ontario, Cornwall and the Eastern Townships. In 1976 the TWUA merged with the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America to form the Amalgamated Clothing and Textile Workers Union. Charles (Bud) Clarke succeeded George Watson as the director of the textile workers division of the new union in 1977.

The Canadian National Office of the Textile Workers Union of America presented their records between 1975 and 1977, and those of the South-Western Ontario Joint Board in 1977. Material from Local 1430 was donated by Ed Seymour, Canadian Education Director of the TWUA in 1976. The Greater Toronto Textile Joint Board and the Greater Cornwall Textile Joint Board presented their records in 1979 and 1980 respectively.

Finding Aid No. 1110 is a file list. Two posters have been hung in the vertical file:
