SNOWDEN, Donald (1928-1984). Educator and Video Artist.

Originals, n.d., 1950-1981. 6 m. Finding Aid No. 1550.

Mr Snowden was born in Winnipeg, Manitoba where he was educated. He attended the University of Manitoba, but obtained his Bachelor of Journalism degree from Carleton University in Ottawa in 1949. He worked with the Winnipeg Free Press and the Saskatchewan Dept. of Tourism for several years after graduation. He served with the Department of Northern Affairs and Natural Resources from 1956 to 1964 during which time he organized the Industrial Division which helped to found co-operatives across the Arctic for the sale and production of Inuit crafts, the processing of seafoods and sale of consumer goods. In 1964, he left the Department and joined the Memorial University Extension Service as a special adviser. He was named Chairman of the Royal Commission on Labrador in 1973 to investigate the aid to Labrador Inuit and Indians as well as areas such as transportation, fisheries and education. He served on the executive boards of numerous organizations including C.I.D.A., the Canadian Council for Rural Development and the National Film Board.

He was especially known for his knowledge of Northern problems, Inuit handicrafts, fisheries and co-operatives. He was a pioneer in the use of video-tape to allow dialogue between two non-communicative groups. He first demonstrated this technique in Fogo Island, Newfoundland where by interviewing fishermen in their homes was able to show government officials that it did not make sense to move the community to the mainland. He utilized this technique for the Office of Economic Opportunity in the U.S. in the U.S. South, studying aid to rural poor, after the race riots in Hartford, Connecticut and among the Alaskan Inuit.

The Donald Snowden Papers were donated to the Public Archives by Mr & Mrs H.S. Hibberd of Oakville, the Executors of the Snowden Estate in 1984.

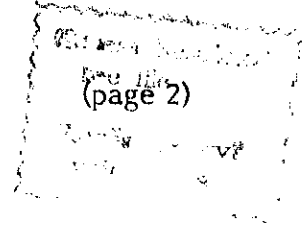

Maps, sound recordings and photographs were transferred to the appropriate divisions.

Personal Papers, n.d., 1950-1981. 40 cm (volumes 1 and 2).

Correspondence, memoranda and transcripts of video-tape interviews of Inuit on the Kaminuriak Caribou herd on the western shores of Hudson Bay. His work with the Province of Saskatchewan Tourist Board and the Department of Northern Affairs is also covered as are his briefs to the Berger Inquiry, his work for UNESCO in Venezuela, the marketing of Ookpik and his resignation from the Department of Northern Affairs.

Canadian Council on Rural Development, (CCRD or CRDC), 1970-1979. 1.45 m (volumes 3-10).

Reports, memoranda, correspondence, speeches and minutes of meetings of this Council which advised the Minister on DREE projects. The papers concern native peoples, Atlantic fisheries, rural families, appropriate technology, the role of rural women, land use, forestry, job
